

The first trailer for NBC's Emerald City definitely teases an altogether darker take on L. Frank Baum's iconic yarn, though the setup remains pretty much identical: a tornado whisks Kansas resident Dorothy Gale (Person of Interest's Adria Arjona) off to a magical land, where she encounters warring witches and all manner of magical creatures. We even have versions of the Scarecrow (well, a muscle-bound dude covered in straw), the Tin-Man and the Cowardly Lion - though some big liberties have been taken there. Check out the teaser and a couple of posters below. You can also see a batch of character banners HERE. Are you a good witch, or a bad witch? #EmeraldCity pic.twitter.com/i63ign97xC — Emerald City (@NBCEmeraldCity) November 23, 2016

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/fantasy/first-trailer-and-character-posters-for-nbcs-emerald-city-starring-a147023>