

This has been a long time coming. After hearing about the mysterious horror project from producer/writer Joss Whedon and director Drew Goddard it seemed to sort of fade away for quite a while. Then suddenly we had a teaser poster and now a full theatrical trailer too. Have a looksee but skip it if you want to know nothing at all about the plot.. Hmmm. Seems like there could be a bit of a sci-fi element there too. It certainly looks interesting, and seems to be hinging on us accepting that although it looks just like every other type of movie of it's ilk out there that it will be something different. I still don't think it looks particularly good though! How bout you guys? The Cabin in the Woods is scheduled for release in US theaters April 13th, 2012. And there are prequel comic book adaptations in the pipeline too. By

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=50725&t=First_Trailer_For_Joss_Whedon_Drew_Goddards_THE_CABIN_IN_THE_WOODS