

John Wick was an awesome movie featuring some of the best action scenes to ever grace the big screen, so the fact that the sequel is so highly anticipated really shouldn't come as too much of a surprise. The sequel, John Wick: Chapter Two, is released this Friday, and to celebrate that, we have a fun parody for you along with a funny (but complimentary) Honest Trailer for the first instalment. Oh, and there's also a fantastic new official poster which pays homage to one of the first movie. It's Dog Wick which steals the show here, though. Imagining what would happen if John was the one killed, we see his puppy leapin into action and gunning down the men responsible for murdering John Wick's dog's human. It's really well done and worth a watch It even appears to have been endorsed by the studio as they sponsored it, a rarity for videos like this. Are you guys excited for the sequel?

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/action/forget-john-wick-chapter-2-dog-wick-is-t-he-action-movie-you-need-to-see-a148805>