

Even if you're not a wrestling fan, Cody Rhodes' name will no doubt be familiar to you. He took on Arrow star Stephen Amell as Stardust at last year's SummerSlam, and made an appearance during season five as a drug dealer who couldn't feel pain. Talking to Bleeding Cool to promote an upcoming match at Ring of Honor: Final Battle, the wrestler expressed a desire to return to the DC TV Universe. "I would love to," Rhodes said of possibly reprising the role. "There's no concrete plans right now. I heard something might be brewing for a future season. What [DC TV producer] Greg Berlanti has done is amazing – he's made four distinct universes, I think there's about to be a fifth – with bringing DC to television. I would love to be part of the Arrowverse, Star City, again as Derek Sampson, or even part of something like Legends of Tomorrow. I'm a lifelong comic book reader, and they were

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/inhumans/former-wwe-superstar-and-arrow-actor-cody-rhodes-is-eyeing-black-bolt-a147178>