

Max Landis is writing a screenplay based on the classic monster tale for 20th Century Fox. Davis Entertainment is attached to produce the untitled pic, which Fox will distribute. From Variety: "No director is attached as of right now, although studio is eyeing several high-profile helmers including Paul Greengrass and David Yates. Ron Howard had been circling the project, but it appears he's out, given that The Dark Tower is still up in the air and that he's in early talks for Formula 1 biopic Rush. There are couple of Frankenstein movies in the works at the moment, so we'll see what are studios plans for this project.
