

“After being held in a coma-like state for fifteen years, vampire Selene (Kate Beckinsale) learns that she has a fourteen-year-old vampire/Lycan hybrid daughter, Nissa, and when she finds her they must stop BioCom from creating super Lycans that will kill them all.” I'm not a big fan of these movies at all, in fact I think a few stylish visuals aside they pretty much suck. Still, they do seem to be very popular and that trailer was decent. Who knows! Directed by Måns Mårild and Björn Stein, Underworld: Awakening stars Kate Beckinsale, Charles Dance, Michael Ealy, India Eisley and Stephen Rea is slated for release January 20, 2012.
