

Game of Thrones is on it's way to becoming cable's latest "must-watch" sensation. Only 1 season is all it took for the HBO drama to become a likely front-runner in several Emmy categories. Recently, the show's writer/producer combo, David Benioff and Dan Weiss dropped by the Sirius Radio Show, What's Worth Watching to discuss the TV fav. Here's what they shared with listeners: WWWW: Are there any characters from the first book that you wish you could've got into this series that didn't make the cut? Dan: We were so aware of the kind of choices we'd have to make, we knew we'd have to condense and cut and what-have-you, so I feel like from the beginning, one of our main jobs was to focus in on who we loved and who we didn't think we could do without, so I feel like we got most of the

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=40786&t=Game_of_Thrones_WriterProducer_Team_Talk_Season_2_Storyline