

George R.R. Martin, also known as GRRM amongst his loyal fan base has been a fan for years. He wrote a letter to Stan Lee back in the '60s about Fantastic Four #32 and Avengers #9 and more recently summed up the difference between Marvel and DC quite succinctly. As a fan of comic books, I imagine Martin was just as eagerly anticipating Marvel's Avengers movie just as much as the rest of us here. Here's what he had to say about the film. I liked THE AVENGERS a lot... but maybe "loved" is too strong. I do have quibbles. I definitely want to see it again, this time in 2D. I did not think the 3D added much, and the process made many of the scenes too dark. I am really not in love with today's 3D process. Yes, sometimes it works very well, as on HUGO, but mostly it

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=59964>