

Gaining anticipation with promotion at last month's San Diego Comic-Con convention, it seems we're in for an official teaser for Sony's Ghost Rider: Spirit Of Vengeance sequel. The Alberta Film Ratings site has recently classified the teaser, evidently meaning it'll be appearing in theaters in the coming weeks; while the official site indicates it'll surely be next week. Ghost Rider: Spirit Of Vengeance (trailer #1) 1:38 Sony Pictures Releasing Ghost Rider: Spirit Of Vengeance picks up where it's been several years since making a deal with the Devil and Johnny Blaze, living in self-imposed isolation, finds himself as the only person who can help save 10-year-old Danny – and ultimately the world – thanks to his unwanted and uncontrollable power – his ability to transform into the hell-on-wheels monster 'Ghost Rider'. Starring Nicolas Cage, Idris Elba, Ciarán Hinds, Christopher Lambert & Violante Placido, the film releases in 3D February 17, 2012
