

Though we do tend to report on actors/actresses responding to fan suggestions that they should play certain characters, it's admittedly not really news, and more of a topic to promote discussion - however, when someone actively campaigns for a role it's a slightly different story. Ghostbusters star Leslie Jones has said that she'd love to play a superhero in the past, and it looks like she has her sights set on the upcoming Deadpool sequel. @VancityReynolds I want to be in deadpool. I could be smart mouth side kick. And my power would be loudness!! — Leslie Jones (@Lesdoggg) December 7, 2016 Jones is obviously joking about the character, but we think she'd make a fine addition to the cast. Sometimes these things do wind up panning out, so you never know! Deadpool 2 is targeting a January 2018 release date, with David Leitch replacing Tim Miller behind the camera. UPDATE: The official Deadpool Movie Twitter account just debuted this awesome holiday packaging Blu-ray art:

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/deadpool/ghostbusters-reboot-star-leslie-jones-wants-a-role-in-the-deadpool-a147368>