

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/LetsCutTheBS/news/?a=27668&t=Go_Team_Tanit

And that sucks. Remember when we had the fresh news of Tanit Phoenix in the mix for landing the coveted Wonder Woman role and how excited that news all made us? Remember! This from Deadline: 'The TV reboot of Wonder Woman is being postponed. David E. Kelley's high-profile take on the female superhero has been shelved after not landing a deal at a broadcast network because of what sources called unfortunate timing. The project hails from DC sibling Warner Bros. TV where Kelley is based with an overall deal.' Nikki goes on to say that every network Wonder Woman was presented to passed. That's right, they passed. Looks like this would be a great opportunity for AMC. Put Wonder Woman on right after the Walking Dead airs. That's two hours of television I would not miss. Hey, the good news is the CW did NOT pick it up! Also something I wouldnt miss, the