

Comic Book Resources has the full report on the panel, but here's an excerpt on Superman: "Which did Morrison like more: writing Batman or Superman? Morrison said while he goes back and forth, he was 'buzzed' to be writing Superman again. 'The capitalist millionaire seems to have a little less to say to us now than the champion of the oppressed,' laughed Morrison. "Explaining that his Superman in Action Comics would be a more mischievous, 'anti-authoritarian' character, Morrison reveled that Clark Kent would become almost as big a name in Metropolis as Superman. 'He's a social reformer, and Clark Kent does as much work as Superman basically uprooting corruption and exposing corruption, so the two of them are working in tandem,' said Morrison. Elaborating that in his version Ma and Pa Kent are dead, Morrison told the audience his Superman will be more of a mischievous character. 'Justice may not involve the law

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/VoicesFromKrypton/news/?a=42541&am
p;t=Grant_Morrison_on_Superman_at_SDCC_11_Justice_May_Not_Involve_the_Law