

This will be the first short in a series from Aardman Animation. It's done in the style of the Oscar winning Creature Comforts. Basically average members of the public (in this case children) are interviewed and their answers become the musings of a bunch of clay zoo animals (in this case kid versions of DC characters).. DC Nation - Aardman by redruger Depending on whether you're familiar with Aardman's style may depend on your enjoyment of that. I loved it anyway!
