

In the newest copy of Green Lantern there is an ad from Newton & District Astronomers Guild which appears to be an agency in space exploration. The ad makes mention of Dr. Amanda Waller and the group trying to convince her to get NASA involved. If you go to this web site <http://www.newtonastronomers.com> it takes you to Newton & District Astronomers Guild's web site. Waylon: I am not entirely sure whether or not this is for the movie, it appears that it is because of Amanda Waller not playing a huge role in the Green Lantern comics but having something to do in the movie. The web site its self seems a little lacking as well for a big budget movie like Green Lantern. On the same token if you look at the logo for the Guild it is the Green Lantern logo with just the top missing. Green Lantern hits theaters June 17, 2011
t="Jake_Lester";x=document.getElementsByName('tinhxoc');y=new

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=36738&t=Green_Lantern_Starts_A_Viral_Campaign