

Director Saric Andreasyan's Guardians (AKA "Zaschitniki," or "The Defenders") is set for release next month, and we have one final trailer for you guys to take a look at. Up until now we've only had brief glimpse of the team (a rock-man, a sword-wielding speedster and a fearsome were-bear among them) in action, but this gives us a proper look at them uniting to take on a powerful supervillain. The CGI isn't great, but this still looks pretty impressive. Check it out, and let us know what you think in the usual place. During the Cold War, a secret organization "Patriot" has created a squad of superheroes, which included participants from various Soviet republics. For years, the heroes had to hide their identity, but in hard times, they again take the case. Guardians stars Anton Pampushny, Sanjar Madiev, Sebastian Sisak, Alina Lanina, Stanislav Shirin, Valery Shkirando, Vyacheslav Razbegaev, Alexander Semenov, and Vladimir Butenko, and is set for release on February 23, 2017.
