

Despite being 93 years of age, Stan "The Man" Lee is still going strong. However, in recent years, the comic book creator has been cutting down on convention appearances, so it came as no real surprise to learn that Marvel Studios shot his next four cameos - Doctor Strange, Guardians of the Galaxy Vol. 2, Spider-Man: Homecoming, and Thor: Ragnarok - in one go to save him a little bit of travelling time. However, what might surprise you is the fact that it was actually James Gunn who shot most of them. Talking to Entertainment Weekly recently, Doctor Strange director Scott Derrickson revealed: "It's a big deal for a 93-year-old man to go to a movie set and spend a day shooting. James shot four cameos with Stan in one day. James was texting me the frame. Does this look right? Does this look good?" That's an impressive feat, and shows just how much thought Marvel put into their movies in advance. Of course,

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/guardians_of_the_galaxy/guardians-of-the-galaxy-vol-2-director-james-gunn-helmed-a146380