

The busiest director right now is probably Guillermo del Toro. Working on so many projects just shows how talented and passionate he is. Sadly, he never got around to making the two part Hobbit films and an R-rated adaptation of H. P. Lovecraft's At the Mountains of Madness, but he did get a chance to move forward with other projects. One of them is "the biggest" monster film ever, Pacific Rim starring Charlie Hunnam, Idris Elba and Charlie Day. Talking to MTV's Josh Horowitz, director shared his thoughts on what can we expect: Get More: Movie Trailers, Movies Blog The other project he has been working on for a while now, is of course del Toro's long-awaited adaptation of Frankenstein. It was previously reported that actor Doug Jones (Pan's Labyrinth, Hellboy films) would play the creature, and it would be based on Bernie Wrightson's art. You can watch what the director has to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Wolvie09/news/?a=44211&t=Guillermo del Toro On The Status Of iFrankenstein_i And What Can We Expect From iPacific Rim_i