

While his schedule has filled to the brim with a wide array of in-development projects, the question Guillermo del Toro gets asked quite often is “when is Hellboy III coming?” Unfortunately, with Hellboy II: The Golden Army unable to turn a profit back in the summer of 2008, the idea of a sequel never seemed likely. Hellboy himself, Ron Perlman, has tried to rally support for a trilogy capper on social media in the past, but has recently suggested that fans not get their hopes up any more. Now del Toro promises that if his Twitter poll reaches near 100,000 votes by tomorrow, he'll have one more sit down with Perlman and Hellboy creator Mike Mignola to hopefully get the ball rolling once more. The HELLBOY III is our chance to vote the right way in 2017! If 100k votes come in 24 hours I promise to have a sit down w Da Perl & Mignola — Guillermo del Toro (@RealGDT) January 18,

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/hellboy/hellboy_3/guillermo-del-toro-will-have-one-more-hellboy-iii-discussion-if-a148282