

It seems we can forget about that Harley Quinn rumor anyway. According to Total Film Juno Temple will indeed be playing sidekick to Catwoman, Holly Robinson. During their interview with the actress, the mag states.. "Then there's the big one-The Dark Knight Rises, where Temple plays "street smart Gotham gal" Holly Robinson. Speculation has it that her Holly is the young prostitute first seen in Frank Miller's Batman: Year One, and that she may be the sidekick to Anne Hathaway's Catwoman" Temple then says.. "I can't talk about that. But I think it's going to be fucking unbelievable. [Christopher Nolan] is awesome! There's something really gentlemanly about him. He's got an insane, incredible vision going on. Just getting the opportunity to work with him is awesome" Now it seems to me that Total Film are so sure about this because they put it to Temple and although she didn't elaborate, she didn't correct them either.
