

Thanks to our awesome friends over at The Man Of Steel Facebook Page, from Ben Torres, we have a look at some concept art by Chris Samuels and Brian Eun that was done for Hasbro's toy line for the failed Superman Lives project. The art gives us a look at Nic Cage suited up as the Man of Steel, as well as what his ship from the movie might have looked like if the film had actually gotten made. Art by Chris Samuels Art by Chris Samuels Art by Chris Samuels Art by Brian Eun Art by Brian Eun The failed Superman Lives movie was scheduled to be directed by Tim Burton. Kevin Smith did a couple of drafts of a script for the film but left due to creative differences with Burton. The art that is show here also looks different from the pictures of the Superman costume that has surfaced over the years. What do

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=51259&t=Hasbros_Concept_Art_For_SUPERMAN_LIVES_Toys