

Speaking with Horror News, actress Heather Langenkamp (best known for her role in the original Nightmare On Elm Street) reveals that she will be in the highly anticipated sequel Star Trek Into Darkness, director J.J. Abrams' return to the Trek universe. She says that her part is small, but she worked on the film's make-up effects with her husband. The rest of the movie's cast includes Chris Pine, Zachary Quinto, Benedict Cumberbatch, Zoe Saldana, Karl Urban, Simon Pegg and Alice Eve. Video game voice actor Nolan North also has a small role in the sequel. For the rest of the interview with Langenkamp (in which she discusses her new documentary I Am Nancy and the legacy of Nightmare On Elm Street), click the link below. "I had the opportunity to play a small part in Star Trek, so I'm looking forward to that. I can't tell you anything about that,

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/BatFreak/news/?a=69187>