

Henry Cavill was at SDCC last week(or was that two weeks ago now?) speaking about his latest movie Tarsem's Immortals, and showing off his newly dyed black Superman do. So off course a few questions were leveled at the young actor about stepping into the boots and cape of The Man Of Steel in Zack Snyder's currently shooting reboot. io9 ask him about his preparation for the role.. 1o9: How is your Clark Kent coming along? HC: Coming along very well, thank you. What comic books did you read to prepare for this character? For Superman? I read as much as I possibly could, so yeah, I mean I just got the DC Comics app, downloaded as much as I could, got as many of the comic books sent to me in the mail as I could, and just immersed myself in the character as much as possible. Were there any few authors that you loved

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=43491&t=Henry_Cavill_Reveals_Which_iSuperman_iComics_Are_Preparing_Him_For_iMan_Of_Steel