

Kiefer Sutherland will be more of a family man in this show, as opposed to his tough guy turn in 24. He'll play a journalist, who becomes a widowed father after his wife dies during the September 11th attack on the World Trade Center. His son is a mute and autistic, but he also displays an amazing ability to see the exchanges of electrical and biological energy. From that he is able to see the future. More Touch Videos Sutherland stars as Martin Bohm, a single father who discovers his mute 11-year-old son, Jake (David Mazouz), possesses some incredible gifts, enabling him to find the connections between seemingly unrelated events. Touch comes from Tim Kring, the creator of Heroes, and also stars Gugu Mbatha-Raw (Undercovers) and Danny Glover (Lethal Weapon). IGN.com
