

While speaking with Moviefone, Hugh Jackman talked a little about his cameo in X-men First Class. Jackman stated that he was pitched the idea and he liked it because he was the only one that got to swear, and filmed it in eight takes. Said Jackman of the Cameo: "Basically I was asked a long time ago if I would do a cameo. Way before shooting happened. And I said, 'Well, pitch me the idea.' They pitched me the idea and I remember saying, 'Does anyone else swear in the movie?' They said, 'no,' and I said, 'I'm in.' [laughs] It sounded perfect to me. The actual line they used in the end, 'go f-ck yourself,' was a bit of an ad-lib. The line was originally 'f-ck off.' We did about eight takes and I said, 'Mathew, let me do just one more.'" He then went on to elaborate that he thought the cameo

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=47108&t=Hugh_Jackman_Thought_His_Cameo_In_iX-Men_First_Classi_Wasnt_Going_To_Happen