

The folks at SHH were recently tipped by 'EvilElvis' of a soon to be used filming site for Joss Whedon's crown jewel Marvel's The Avengers. Unfortunately lacking anything excitement, the scooper offered the following: These were taking in Albuquerque, NM where they are filming the Avengers movie aka GH aka Group Hug. They have leased the old Santa Fe rail yard. Cheers! [Click Image to Enlarge] So, it's safe to say there'll be a Santa Fe railyard setting in the film; maybe. Hopefully, there will be some affiliation or homage paid to Hulk being tricked by Loki into destroying a railroad track in Stan Lee's original 'Avengers' comic. What do you think? Marvel's The Avengers picks up when an unexpected enemy emerges that threatens global safety and security. And Nick Fury, director of the international peacekeeping agency known as S.H.I.E.L.D., finds himself in need of a team to

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=36824&t=Images_Of_An_Albuquerque_New_Mexico_Set_For_The_Avengers_ Revealed