

During a press junket for Immortals ComingSoon caught up with producers Mark Canton and Gianni Nunnari, to talk about the prequel to Zach Snyder's highly acclaimed 300. Find out below where the project is currently at, and if there's a possibility of a King Leonidas cameo. On The Current State Of The Project: "We have to say that Zack Snyder and Kurt Johnstad, his writing partner, have killed it, they've done a tremendous job making a highly intelligent, epic story that will stand on its own. But it's not a conventional sequel and, for what we do, that's what you hope and pray for. That you can be original and authentic at the same time." "It's a work in progress... as opposed to a year ago where it was just something we wanted to do." On A Possible Gerald Butler's Cameo: "It's too early to say," he smiled, "but we know the answer."
