

At this year's CinemaCon in Las Vegas, Warner Bros. explicitly revealed four clips and a new trailer for the Martin Campbell-directed Green Lantern movie. With ComingSoon.Net being one of the lucky attendees, check out a great chunk of their description for to footage screened. The first clip begins with the title "Sector 2018" and we see Abin Sur using some fancy light-based controls on his ship and communicating with Mark Strong's Sinestro, who is telling him about a planet that's been destroyed by Parallax, but before getting too far into the conversation, Abin Sur is attacked by Parallax--we can't see it too clearly but it looks like a large yellow head with sharp teeth--and he gets seriously injured before flying away in his glass cylindrical spaceship. The second clip has Ryan Reynolds as Hal Jordan finding Abin Sur's spaceship in the water and he runs out to try to save the being he

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=34296&:t=In-Depth_Description_For_iGreen_Lanterni_Footage_Screened_At_CinemaCon