

The Dark Knight Rises is pulling no stops with its marketing. Just as CBM reported earlier this week they have released interactive Movie Kiosks in certain theaters. At my Local Burbank AMC I found the standee. It allows you to record a video right on the spot. First you pick your character Batman, Bane or Catwoman then it tracks your head as you record a message...with the character you picked mask on! It's not perfect but I thought it was very cool way to advertise the film. For your amusement I recorded what all three look like. The cool part is the Bane one deepens your voice! Try not to be turned on by my Catwoman ;)

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/DarkKnightNews/news/?a=62249>