

Christopher Daniels (formerly known as the "Fallen Angel" Christopher Daniels) is considered by many (me included) to be one of the best all round pro-wrestlers in the business. He has wrestled for numerous promotions both big and small, earning the mantle "The King Of The Indies" for his work with and championing of various independent promotions the world over. He also happens to be a big comic book fan and took time out of his busy schedule to answer a few questions about appearing at this year's SDCC, his favorite CBM's, whether he has any intentions to pursue an acting career and more. MC: I believe that you are a big comic book fan(X-Men in particular:). You along with some pals from TNA appeared at this year's SDCC. How was that experience? CD: I had a blast, and I know my friends that wrestled that day did too. I have friends

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=48737&t=INTERVIEW_Christopher_Daniels_Talks_Comics_CBM's_Which_Character_He_Would_Like_To_Play_In_A_Movie