

Adam and Marc are long-time writing buddies with titles such as Highwayman, Genius and Push under their belts. Their new book is about.. Well, let's let them tell you about it. Tell CBMers about Hero Complex and what it is bringing to the floor as a new book. MARC: One of the things that interests Adam and I is taking a look at the familiar and finding new ways to explore it. Monster Attack Network springs from the classic Godzilla/kaiju story and examines what happens to an island's infrastructure when giant monsters invade on a regular basis. Hero Complex came from both of us hitting our 20-year high school reunion and wondering: "What happens when a guy who was the 100-pound weakling in high school, but has since become a full-fledged superhero, goes to his reunion? What happens when a changed man goes back home again?" We found a lot of grist for
