

Mollie Fitzgerald (who has a small role in Captain America: TFA) was good enough to discuss her role in the movie, as well as various other aspects of working with the cast and crew etc. She also comments the rumors of a delay leading up to the first trailer as well as the possibility of working with Marvel Studios again. And, although not able to reveal anything about a third trailer she does suggest that impressive as the second trailer for the movie was, we haven't seen anything yet!.. CBM You must have been privy to quite a bit of footage etc before the majority of us were. Back when we last spoke rumors had hit that the footage that had been shown was met with a negative reaction, that must have been frustrating knowing how untrue that was, as we were all pretty much blown away when we got our first glimpse
