

5. Two-Face Confronts Maroni.(The Dark Knight/Christopher Nolan) "Going to join your wife?"
Surprise, surprise. I kick off my list with a scene from The Dark Knight. In this sequence we finally get to see Dent do some damage and in my opinion give the best performance in the film. I'm not sure about the rest of you, but finally seeing Two-Face done right was the highlight of the movie for me and this scene's tone couldn't have been executed any better.

4. Aunt May's Speech To Peter.(Spider-Man 2/Sam Raimi) "You'll never guess who he wants to be. Spider-Man." This scene might not be packed with action or incredible drama, but it makes itself special on so many levels. It's subtle hints to May knowing Peter's secret and genuine emotion captured by Raimi makes this perhaps the most touching scene I have witnessed in a CBM.

3. Bloodbath! At The Disco.(Blade/David S. Goyer) "What's wrong, baby?" This is perhaps
