

Halted for the weekend, filming for Iron Man 3 was in full swing last week over in Wilmington, North Carolina, not only disclosing a few movie details, but also exposing a patriotic foe. And now On Location Vacation has learned when & where next week's shoot will take place, while WECT knows who & what'll be filmed. WECT reports: Iron Works productions plans to film at least one [driving] scene of Iron Man 3 in Cary next week. The production's Assistant Location Manager Ben Stolte requested four motorcycle officers from the Town of Cary to escort a caravan down the street as crews are filming and to briefly hold traffic at a few intersections they would cross in the process. Twitter user @WannaRubaDdub tells OLV: Iron Man 3 is expected to film scenes on Caitboo Ave behind Crossroads Cinema in Cary, N.C. on Monday (6/4) and Tuesday (6/5) from 6:00
