Is this not to be believed like the Tom Hardy/Hugo Strange rumor? Who knows, and only time will tell. But for now it's fun to speculate. This from batman-news.com: 'Jett on his private BOF message board has been hinting that Bane may show up in The Dark Knight Rises.' We all know the last time we saw Bane was in the poorly done Clooney Looney tune that was 'Batman and Robin'. They would have gotten it right if they would have had Arnold playing Bane and Patrick Stewart playing Mr. Freeze, and then paid Michael Keaton the money he wanted, to play the Bat getting his back broke. Alas, it was not meant to be, but at least we have hope that the powers that be will, this time, hopefully, (if he's even in the movie), do Bane right! What do you think? Is Bane in or out? And as always, don't be afraid to
