

As anyone who has seen Richard Donner's Superman movies (and who hasn't) knows, Miss Teschmacher was Lex Luthor's glamorous assistant/sidekick/love interest. She was played by Valerie Perrine and was something of a comic foil at times and continued to be when her character was updated in Bryan Singer's Superman Returns, this time played by Parker Posey. Then in Smallville, the character of Tess Mercer was an amalgamation of Teschmacher and Mercy Graves, Luthor's bodyguard/chauffeur. Now a while ago the news broke that Zack Snyder and WB were looking for 2 female leads for their Superman reboot, and one of them was to be a villain. The rumor mill churned out Ursa, the Kryptonian villain, but it seems that Supes could be facing a much less threatening female opponent. Not too much to go on for now, just the following tweet from Torosreviews' eltorolatino.. according to Howard Stern, auditions are being held for Lex Luthor and
