

While nothing is confirmed, of course, according to a site called DarkKnightRisesRumors.com (found via AICN and What Culture), this will be a place where the new batcave will be located in Christopher Nolan's The Dark Knight Rises. It was previously reported that some scenes will be shot in Wales, also for batcave. Images below are quite great, and it really looks like a place for something that big. Once again, nothing is confirmed. And What Culture points out couple of details regarding the batcave: - There is a Batcave in The Dark Knight Rises and it will be an enhanced version of what we saw in Batman Begins. - The exteriors, including the waterfall, have already been shot on location in Wales. - Many interiors will be shot at a Warner Bros soundstage. What do you think of the photos and is this a good place for a new batcave? Starring Christian Bale, Anne Hathaway,
