

This is what The Baseline Studio System list as the official synopsis for Man Of Steel.. A young reporter named Clark Kent roams the world covering various news stories. When he is compelled to use his secret powers to intervene in a crisis in West Africa, he returns to Smallville to learn more about his origins and the hero he was born to be. Now I realize that this is a variation on a previous synopsis which was thought to be a fake, but Bleeding Cool vouch for this system's accuracy and have known them to be spot on in the past. According to Bleeding Cool's Brendon Connelly.. It looks to me like Warner Bros. registered some details of the film, most likely with casting services who fed it to Baseline, somehow, but have since decided to play coy. I'd be prepared to make a reasonable sized bet on the above being the film's
