

When it was first revealed that Ghost Rider was coming to Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D., many viewers weren't particularly happy. There were concerns about the quality of the special effects for starters, while Robbie Reyes being the Spirit of Vengeance disappointed fans of Johnny Blaze and Danny Ketch. However, since making his debut, everyone has had nothing but good things to say about him. That's something actor Gabriel Luna talks about in the video below, but it's far from the main highlight. Asked about the possibility of a solo spinoff for Ghost Rider somewhere down the line, he replied: "You know, there's been rumblings about that. It depends on how much you love it. If you love it, we'll make it." A series on ABC revolving around the character has a ton of potential and could actually lead to the hosts mentioned above also being added to the Marvel Cinematic Universe before too long. We'll just have to wait and see for now, but

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/ghost\_rider/it-sounds-like-ghost-rider-may-be-getting-his-own-series-after-agents-a145817