

Chances are you either love or hate the Transformers franchise, but there's no denying that The Last Knight looks pretty good! Kicking things off with a three headed dragon and then wrapping up with Optimus Prime seemingly killing Bumblebee, there's a lot to talk about here for fans of these characters. Set to be released on June 23rd next year, Transformers: The Last Knight will feature the return of Mark Wahlberg as Cade Yeager as well as new roles for Isabela Moner and Jerrod Carmichael. With Bay back in the director's chair, the screenplay for the movie was written by Iron Man's Art Marcum and Matt Holloway along with Ken Nolan (Black Hawk Down). Plot details are currently being kept under wraps, but the trailer below does at least offer some insight into what we should expect from the movie! What do you guys think of this action-packed preview? Share your thoughts in the usual place...

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/transformers/its-optimus-prime-vs-bumblebee-in-the-epic-first-trailer-for-a147316>