

As I type this, the "James Bond 23" press conference is currently going on in London, with director Sam Mendes, producers Michael G. Wilson and Barbara Broccoli and cast members Daniel Craig, Javier Bardem, Judi Dench, Bérénice Marlohe and Naomie Harris all in attendance. There are several live blogs currently taking place (Digital Spy and HeyUGuys being two of the best) and below we have a selection of Tweets from Empire. To read even more details and quotes from the cast members there, click HERE to head on over to their Twitter account or the link below to check out the site. The title of Bond 23 is, officially, Skyfall. "Bond's journey takes him to Shanghai, Istanbul and to Scotland. Purvis and Wade and John Logan have written a fantastic script." - Mendes "It has a lot of action, and many other things too." He's confirmed Ben Whishaw, who'll be playing a non-disclosed role.
