

BOND IN MOTION Reports Britain's Telegraph, an exhibition called Bond in Motion, celebrating 50 years of 007 vehicles, opens beginning January 17th at the National Motor Museum at Beaulieu. "Bond In Motion will feature a range of Bond-related vehicles including cars, boats, motorbikes, sleds, jets and many more," says the Telegraph. "As ever, the star attraction will be the silver 1964 Aston Martin DB5 from Goldfinger, in tandem with the 1937 Rolls-Royce Phantom III owned by arch-villain Auric Goldfinger. Other famous vehicles include "Wet Nellie", the aquatic Lotus Esprit S1 from The Spy Who Loved Me, and the BMW 750iL from Tomorrow Never Dies. The Jaguar XKR with special effects weapons from Die Another Day and the Ford Mustang from Diamonds Are Forever also star. Away from four wheels, there's also the tiny Bede Acrostar jet used in Octopussy, the original Parahawk paraglider/snowmobile hybrid featured in The World is Not Enough and
