

This summer, Ridley Scott returns to Alien universe with the upcoming film Prometheus, which is set 30 years before the original 1979 film. Now, James Cameron, who directed a sequel to Alien, shares some of his thoughts regarding Prometheus (starts at 1:26). He also talks a little bit about Avatar sequels and if we will ever see Terminator films in 3D. Check out the video below: Starring Noomi Rapace, Michael Fassbender, Charlize Theron, Guy Pearce, Idris Elba and Logan Marshall-Green, Prometheus is set to hit theatres on June 8th, 2012.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Wolvie09/news/?a=57043>