

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/DenofL5/news/?a=28661&t=James_Cameron_Reveals_Details_On_The_iAvatari_Sequels

Talking to Entertainment Weekly, Cameron said: "I am in the process of writing the next two Avatar films now. We are planning to shoot them together and post them together, and we will probably release them not quite back to back, but about a year apart. Christmas '14 and '15 is the current plan." He also mentions that some familiar faces will return: "Basically, if you survived the first film, you get to be in the second film, at least in some form... Fox has partnered with me to donate a chunk of the profits to environmental causes that are at the heart of the Avatar world... I didn't want to make more Avatar movies without a grander plan in place." What do you CBMers think? Are you excited for more adventures in Pandora!? Discuss!