

Seems like the only person talking about a potential sequel to the Summer smash hit X-Men: First Class has been Michael Fassbender, who has said on more than one occasion that he, James McAvoy, and Matthew Vaughn have talked about idea where to take the character of Professor X and Magneto. McAvoy recently sat down with io9 to talk about where he would like to see Professor X go in a sequel, if he is willing to even do a sequel, and says that he and Matthew Vaughn have spoken on an idea that Vaughn is pitching to Fox. On where we will find Charles and Erik in the sequel: I don't know where we find Erik — it's kind of defined at the end of the film that he's a bad guy. I can't really speak for him, but I know that with Charles, you either have to write him out of

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=50017&t=James McAvoy Talks iX-Men First Classi Sequel Says Matthew Vaughn Has Something He Is Pitching To Fox