

Talking to Collider about his role in Ironclad, the British actor was quizzed on his role on Disney's John Carter. (formerly known as John Carter of Mars) Discussing some details about both the differences of working in a CGI heavy environment and the character he plays, here are some excerpts from the site. To read more, be sure to click on the link below to head on over to the site. On What It Was Like To Work With CG And Green Screen: It is fun. Obviously, one has to look at things tonally. As an actor, I can sit here espousing off about how violence should be real, but in John Carter there are also sword fights. It's a different movie. It's a difficult area because actors constantly have to do different levels of violence in different movies, and you end up having to justify being glamorous and violent in John Carter,

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=40915&t=James_Purefoy_Comments_On_His_Role_As_Kantos_Kan_In_John_Carter