

I recently got a chance to attend The Lexington Comic and Toy Convention. During the Power Rangers Zeo reunion, Jason David Frank, also know as The Green Ranger, spoke a little bit about how he wanted a darker version of the "Power Rangers." At 26:01 I think Haim Saban is very silly not to take those Rangers that we were and make a Dark Knight series out of it for you guys. It would be nice if they did something like that, something a little bit more darkish; use those characters; take the White Ranger back, make it like Batman or something. Thats cool as long as you punch someone in the face I am sure if Fox still had rights to "Power Rangers" we would probably see something like this. Sound off below
