

In an interview with Newsarama, Marvel's Head of Television Jeph Loeb has talked more about the planned small screen spin-off of Marvel's The Avengers, currently titled Marvel's S.H.I.E.L.D. Their chat took place BEFORE the announcement that Clark Gregg will return as 'Agent Coulson', but he does still drop a few interesting titbits about the approach that they're taking to the series. For comic book fans, he also comments on wrapping up his 10-part Wolverine epic with Simone Bianchi and reveals what we should expect from his 'Nova' story in Marvel NOW! Point One. There's also an amusing exchange which takes place with DC's Geoff Johns about "NOW!" versus "New"! Click on the image below to view the video.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=68689>