

Jeremy Renner has sounded ever so slightly disappointed in his lack of screen time -- at least when compared to the rest of the cast -- in Marvel's The Avengers in past interviews, and that continues here. In an interview with the LA Times' Hero Complex, the Bourne Legacy actor brings up the fact that for most of the movie, Clint Barton is actually an "evil" version of himself after being enslaved by Loki, and only gets to cut loose as the real Hawkeye towards the end. Renner says that he much preferred playing the "good" Hawkeye, because the other version had "no real consciousness to him".. "At the end of the day, 90% of the movie, I'm not the character I signed on to play. I'm literally in there for two minutes, and then all of a sudden... All I could really work on was the physical part of it

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrants/news/?a=65265>