

Remember back when it was announced that Hawkeye would be appearing in The Avengers? Countless debates, arguments and discussions about what costume they would/should use. The comic purists wanted that old school purple look with the Wolverine style mask or some variation on it, those more in favor of a realistic take wanted them to go with something more like the Ultimate version. Well the man who will be donning that costume recently spoke to Hitfix about playing Hawkeye. He reiterates much of the stuff we have covered about a possible spin off solo movie etc but one new detail he reveals is the following.. One thing Renner did appreciate about the role was the opportunity not to wear the "old-school" Hawkeye costume from the original Avengers comics. "There's a couple different universes," he said. "There's the Ultimates, and then there's the old school version. And I wasn't interested in wearing purple tights

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=50603&title=Jeremy_Renner_Was_Glad_They_Didnt_Go_With_The_Classic_Hawkeye_Look_For_THE_AVENGERS