

There's still an awful lot we don't know about The Defenders, but it appears as if the series will be set during the winter! Where exactly these Netflix shows fit into the Marvel Cinematic Universe's timeline has always been a little hard to figure out, but this is a unique setting and the thought of seeing Daredevil on a snowy rooftop should definitely be one which excites fans of the Man Without Fear. What Matt is up to with Jessica Jones is hard to say, though it's an interesting pairing and one we've actually seen a few times now. Could romance be on the cards for the two? It's highly unlikely, but the good thing about them teaming up is it probably means that Luke Cage and Iron Fist are hanging out elsewhere. For now, we're obviously just going to have to wait and see. What do you guys think? Unfortunately, the set photos are copyrighted, so you'll have to click below to
